

Engagement: what's your story?

insight content technology

Discovering the level of your employees' engagement is valuable business insight in these changing times, as these stats show.

Our MetrIC tool does just that: it gives you the quick insight you need to understand the current employee experience and make recommendations for change. What could it help you discover about your organisation?

Teams who score in the top 20% in engagement realise a 41% reduction in absenteeism, and 59% less employee turnover

Gallup

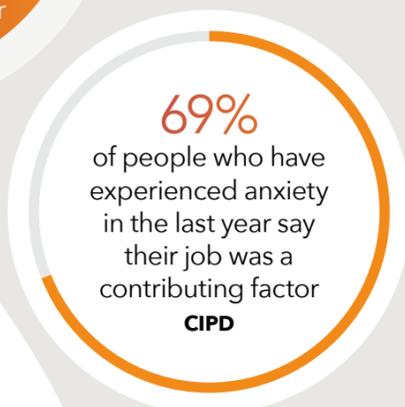

Hays

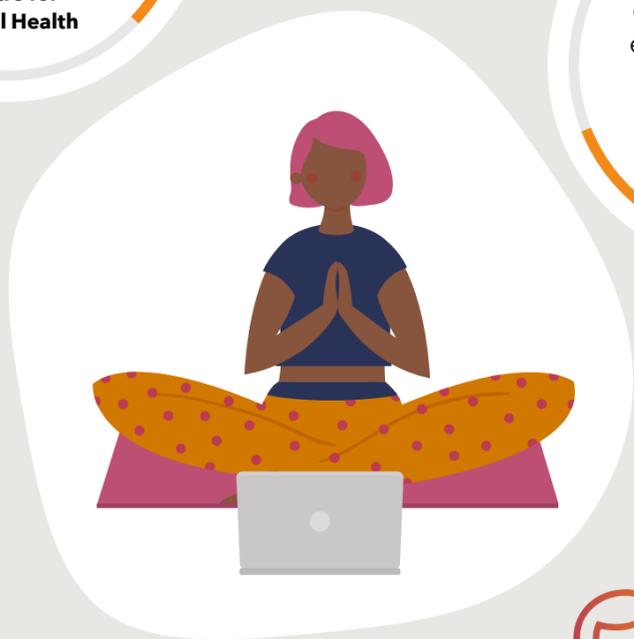

Mind

Centre for Mental Health

CIPD

49% of HR professionals say limited data is hindering wellbeing strategy success

REBA

Only 19% of employees feel engaged in their workplace

Achievers

of UK employees strongly agree that their employer has communicated a clear plan of action in response to coronavirus, compared with 50% of US employees of UK employees have confidence in the leadership of their company to successfully manage emerging challenges (down from 35% a year ago)

Gallup

Gallup

of employers say they're confident that they can interpret and understand the impact of their wellbeing data on the wider business strategy

REBA

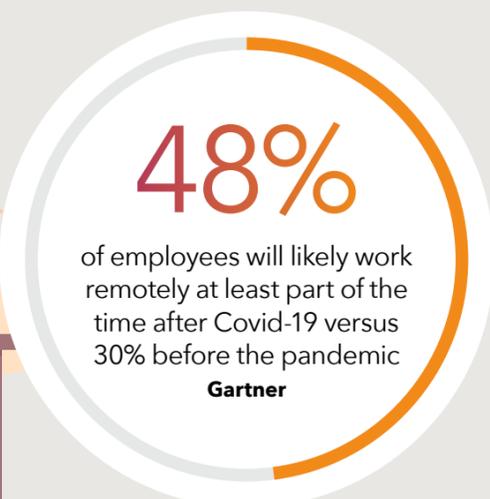

of executives say that engagement is critical to business success

FastTrack 360

Open Text

Gartner

Sequel's MetrIC is an internal communication tool to measure your people's workplace experience and wellbeing. It gives you the quick insight you need to assess how colleagues rate their employee experience, and recommendations for change, benchmarked against other leading organisations.

For more details on how MetrIC can give you the valuable insight you need to have more impact contact hello@sequelgroup.co.uk

Quote 'MetrIC_T/L' to get a FREE half-hour session with our Insight team on your challenges in measuring employee engagement.

insight // content // technology

www.sequelgroup.co.uk

